REPORT.

TO THE CLASS,—The present Report covers the time from June, 1878, to June, 1881. Its contents are perhaps more meagre and less interesting than those of the Third Report; but I hope it will serve to prevent the Class from drifting apart, and to keep up our interest in each other. While some have failed to answer the circular sent them, I believe I have been able to give the correct address of every member of the Class who graduated in 1872, with one exception (E. E. Waters), and I shall be obliged if any one can send me that. Of those not graduated with the Class, the reports grow less numerous; and the number of them who care to keep up a connection with the Class grows less from year to year. Such information as I could get of them I have given.

The past three years have seen but few changes. Some have married, and the descendants of the Class have become more numerous. The number of those married is now forty-seven, and their children number fifty-one, of whom two have died. These figures refer to those graduated in 1872. The changes in occupations and residences have been few. Two deaths have occurred,—Cecil Barnes, at Chicago, March 19, 1880, and Henry Greenough, jun., at sea, April 10, 1880, of whom brief notices are given in this Report.

The Report of the Class Fund I have thought best, for various reasons, to print by itself; and it will be distributed among the members of the Class by mail, or otherwise. The income of it is sufficient to afford us our regular triennial dinner, and to pay all current expenses; and, while it is so, I do not think it worth while to invite further subscriptions to it, although only a small number of the Class have contributed the present fund. Those who have means to spare, and are anxious to contribute to something, are invited to subscribe to the Class Subscription Fund for the College, a report of which is given on a subsequent page.

There are several copies of the last Report left, also of the first, and of the Class-Day Oration, Poem, etc., which I shall be glad to send to any of the Class desiring them. Please inform me of any mistakes in the following record, and of any change in occupation, address, etc.

ALBERT L. LINCOLN, JUN.,

Class Secretary.

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

JUNE, 1878 — JUNE, 1881.

CHARLES ALMY, JUN. Has continued the practice of the law in Boston. In 1878, with another member of the bar, compiled and published a small treatise on "The Law of Married Women in Massachusetts." Is unmarried. Address, 85 Devonshire Street, Boston.

NICOLA ALTROCCHI. In July, 1879, his wife having died Jan. 9, 1879, he went to Florence, Italy, intending to reside there, since which time no information has been received from him by me.

JOHN FORRESTER ANDREW. Has continued to practise law in Boston. Was elected a representative to the Massachusetts General Court, for the years 1880 and 1881, from the Ninth Boston District. Is a member of the New-England Historic-Genealogical Society. Is unmarried. Address, 242 Washington Street, Boston.

JOHN COLEMAN AVERY. No reply has been received to the circular sent him. Donohue informs me he is alive, and occupied as stated in the Third Report. Is unmarried. Address, 274 Race Street, Cincinnati, O.

GEORGE FRANKLIN BABBITT. On his return from his tour in Europe, in September, 1878, he went to Washington as a newspaper correspondent. In 1879 returned to Boston, and was appointed by Mayor Prince one of the health commissioners of the city of Boston for a term of three years. Is unmarried. Address, 32 Pemberton Square, Boston.

CHARLES FRANCIS BAKER. Continues the practice of the law in the office of Norcross & Hartwell, Fitchburg. In July and August, 1878, travelled in Europe. He was married April 24, 1879, at Swampscott, Mass., to Henrietta, daughter of Jonas and Nancy (Hill) Woods of Winchester, Mass. Residence and address, Fitchburg, Mass.

*CECIL BARNES. He was born in Portland, Me., Aug. 4, 1851. His parents were Phinehas Barnes (a graduate of Bowdoin College in 1829, for some time professor of Latin, Greek, and belles-lettres in Bowdoin, and afterwards a lawyer in Portland) and Ann Judson (Butler) Barnes, the daughter of a Baptist clergyman. His father died during Barnes's college course, Aug. 21, 1871. Barnes attended the regular city schools, and was graduated therefrom in 1867. He then spent a year in Phillips (Exeter) Academy under Dr. Soule, and entered college with the Class in 1868. The first two years of the course he chummed with *J. P. Richardson, and the last two he roomed alone. He was a member of the "Society of Christian Brethren," and of the Everett Athenæum. He suffered somewhat from ill health in the freshman and junior year, but accomplished his college-work with credit to himself. Before graduation, he had made up his mind to become a teacher, and for a year after was an instructor in De Veaux College, Suspension Bridge, N.Y.; the next year he was assistant in a private classical school in Chicago, Ill.; in 1875-76 he taught as private tutor, going abroad with his pupil in January, 1875, for six months of travel; in September, 1876, he opened a "Higher School for Boys," in Chicago, and into this he put his whole heart and soul. He went abroad again in the summer of 1878. He was married June 19, 1879, to Annie R. Larrabee of Chicago. A son, Cecil, jun., was born in February, 1880. As a classmate writes, "Barnes came to Chicago an entire stranger alone. Through his activity, energy, devotion, and worth, he made himself widely known and highly esteemed." He was a member of the Chicago Literary Club, and read a paper before the society on the French Constitution. He was also one of the executive committee of the Harvard Association of the North-West. Early in the winter of 1879-80 he showed signs of exhaustion, but kept manfully to his work until Friday, the 9th of March, when he was taken with a lameness in his right knee, which he ascribed to a slight cold. A painful operation was performed upon the knee, and he seemed to rally a little after it. Then pneumonia came upon him, which finally caused his death March 19, 1880. At the following commencement meeting of the Class, a letter from Fessenden, his associate in his school, was read, and a brief sketch of his life taken from the Class Book. Resolutions were passed which may be seen in the Class Book, a copy of which was sent to his wife.

GEORGE SCHUYLER BATES. Remained in San Francisco, Cal.; engaged in journalism until the spring of 1880, when he came East, and is now on the editorial staff of the Boston "Daily Globe." Is unmarried. Address, "Daily Globe" Office, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM STACY BEAMAN. Has continued to practise law. April 30, 1881, he removed from the office of Dickerson & Beaman, and is now in Morse Building, 140 Nassau Street, New-York City, his present address. Is unmarried.

PERRY BELMONT. Has continued to practise law. In May, 1879, formed a partnership with Arthur Dudley Vinton of New York, and George G. Frelinghuysen, New Jersey, under the firm name of Vinton, Belmont, & Frelinghuysen, 19 Nassau Street, New-York City. He has been three months in Europe, in Paris and London, on business connected with the firm of Messrs. A. Belmont & Co. In April, 1879, he published an article in the "International Review," on Taxation of Municipal Bonds. In June, 1880, attended the Cincinnati (Democratic) Convention. In November, 1880, was elected to Congress from First District of New York (Long Island and Staten Island). Is unmarried. Address, 19 Nassau Street, New-York City.

ARTHUR SMITH BIRD. Is at present with a mining expedition to the Atrato River, United States of Colombia. Address, care of Amaranto Jaspe, Carthagena, United States of Colombia, S.A. (Have not heard from Bird directly since last Report.)

CHARLES ROBERTS BRICKETT. Writes as follows, under "occupations, etc.:" "New-Orleans Minstrels, from May 1, 1878, to May 1, 1879; Dan Ducello's New United Exhibitions, from May 8, 1879, to Oct. 17, 1879; Harry Bloodgood's Minstrels, winter season, 1880; taught school, spring term, 1880; travelled during the summer with Ducello's Circus; resumed the school, fall term; then joined fortunes with Whitmore & Clark's Minstrels, winter season; resumed the school April 25." Is unmarried. Address, care of Franklin Brickett, Haverhill, Mass.

JOHN COTTON BROOKS. Resigned the rectorship of St. Gabriel's Church, Providence, R.I., and became rector of Christ Church, Springfield, Mass., Dec. 22, 1878; which position he continues to fill. Spent the summer of 1880 in travelling in Great Britain. Jan. 24, 1880, Marianne Phillips Brooks was born, and died Nov. 21, 1880. Address, 25 Chestnut Street, Springfield, Mass.

HORACE BROWN. Continues the practice of the law in Salem, Mass. Was elected a representative to the Massachusetts General Court, Nov. 5, 1878, and served one year. Is now a member of the common council of the city of Salem. Is a member of the Essex Institute, and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Is unmarried. Resides at 10 Crombie Street, Salem. Address, 237 Essex Street, Salem.

JOHN FREEMAN BROWN. Has continued the practice of law in Boston. Was appointed assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts, July 1, 1878, and filled the position till Jan. 15, 1879. Was married Oct. 31, 1878, at Millbury, Mass., to Alice Augusta, daughter of Robert and Charlotte Augusta (Thayer) Rogerson. Sept. 26, 1879, John Rogerson Brown was born. Resides Norfolk Street, Dorchester. Address, 42 Court Street, Boston.

ARTHUR BURGESS. No change. Is unmarried. Resides part of the time in Boston, and part in New York. Address, care of Benjamin Burgess & Sons, Boston, Mass.

WALTER BURGESS. No change. Resides 231 Marlborough Street, Boston. Is now travelling abroad with his wife and child. Address, P. O. Box, 2629 Boston.

ARTHUR TRACY CABOT. Has continued the practice of medicine in Boston. In June, 1878, received the degree of A.M. Was instructor in oral pathology and surgery (Harvard) 1878-79 and 1879-80. Is surgeon to Carney Hospital, South Boston, assistant surgeon to the Children's Hospital, and physician to the Boston Dispensary. Is a member of the Boston Society for Medical Observation, of which he is secretary for the year 1880-81, a member of the Boston Society for Medical Improvement, and of the Boston Society of Medical Sciences. In June, 1881, was appointed out-patient surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Is the author of the section on "Diseases of the Arteries, Veins, and Lymphatics," in the Supplement to "Ziemssen's Cyclopædia of Medicine." Is unmarried. Address, 11 Park Square, Boston.

EDWARD BELCHER CALLENDER. Has continued to practise law in Boston. In 1879 was a representative of the Massachusetts General Court. Is unmarried. Address, 8 Congress Street, Boston.

WILLIAM WITHINGTON CARTER. Has continued to fill the position of principal of the Englewood High School. For the current year is president of the Cook-County Teachers' Association. Jan. 22, 1879, Alice Lewis Carter was born. Address, Englewood, Cook County, Ill.

CHARLES WELLS CHASE. Remained in business till the fall of 1880; since then has taken up the study of law in the office of C. P. Greenough, Esq., Boston. Was secretary of the Papyrus Club in 1878 and first half of 1879. Is unmarried. Address, 39 Court Street, Boston, or 50 Mount Vernon Street, Charlestown District, where he resides.

Address, 312 Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

ALFRED WITHINGTON FIELD. He writes as follows : "The year 1878-79 was the last that I spent in active work in the Chemical Laboratory at Cambridge, in the employ of Professor Jackson, being also proctor. During 1879-80 I still retained my proctorship, but, on account of increasing weakness, gave up all chemical work. During the summer of 1880 I was very feeble, so that I could hardly sit up during the day. In September, 1880, I resigned the proctorship. Ever since last June I have been at home, and have been slowly getting worse, I am afraid, instead of better : at least, I am now exceedingly reduced both in flesh and strength." He has published with Professor C. L. Jackson the following chemical papers : (1) "Parachlorbenzyl Compounds," Proceedings American Academy of Arts and Sciences, XIV. 54 ; (2) "The Action of Bromine on Toluol and some of its Derivatives" (12 June, 1878), Id. XV. 202 ; (3) Reprint of (1) in Remsen's "American Chemical Journal," II. ; (4) Reprint of (2) in same Journal, I. ; (5) Abstract of (1) (in German), in "Berichte des deutschen chem. Gesellschaft," 1878, 904 ; (6) Abstract of (2) (in German) Id., 1880, 1215. June 7, 1880, he writes, "I am improving slowly." Is unmarried. Address, Leominster Mass.

GEORGE FISKE. Has been in no active occupation. Resides in Weston, Mass. Address, 60 Congress St., Boston.

THOMAS FRENCH. Left the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, June 15, 1878. Accepted the chair of physics and mathematics at Urbana University, which position he now holds. During the winter of 1879-80 he delivered a course of illustrated scientific lectures in Urbana and in Cincinnati. Is a member and vice-president of the Central Ohio Scientific Association. He is the author of an article on "The True Place of Science in the Domain of Truth," published in "New-Jerusalem Magazine," Boston, for November, 1880; also of a "Memorial Address on Swedenborg as a Man of Science," delivered in Cincinnati in October, 1880, and published in pamphlet form by E. H. Swinney, No. 20 Cooper Union, New-York City. A daughter, Hilda Mildred, was born Jan. 2, 1879. Address, Urbana, O.

WILLIAM CLIFFORD FRENCH. In March, 1880, became connected as treasurer with "The Color-Printing Machine Company" of Boston; which position he has continued to fill. Address, 131 Devonshire Street, Boston.

WILLIAM PRESCOTT FROST. Continued to fill the position of city editor of the "Evening Post" until Feb. 28, 1881. He then assumed the business management of that journal, in which he is now engaged. Was a member of the National Democratic Convention at Cincinnati in June, 1880. In 1880 he wrote "William Starke Rosecrans, his Life and Public Services," and also, with P. J. Murphy, "Campaign Handbook, 1880: Hancock and English." Address, "Office of Evening Post," San Francisco, Cal.

RICHARD AUGUSTINE GAMBRILL. Still continues the practice of law. Has left the corporation counsel's office, "but have been coquetting with the law on my own account." Address, 222 Fifth Avenue, New-York City.

GEORGE ALONZO GIBSON. In the fall of 1880 he became interested in the manufacturing business, to which he has given his attention since April, 1881, when he gave up the practice of law, which he had continued up to that time, and is now treasurer of the Ivers and Pond Piano Company. A second son, Kirkland Hopkins, was born Jan. 12, 1881. Resides Forest Street, Medford, Mass. Address, 616 Washington Street, Boston.

FRANK AUSTIN GOOCH. Remained with Professor Wolcott Gibbs, at Cambridge, as private assistant, during the academic years 1877-78 and 1878-79. In October, 1879, was appointed to a position upon the United-States Geological Survey, as an expert special agent of the United-States Tenth Census, and stationed at the chemical laboratory of the survey in Newport, R.I. This position he still retains. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft of Berlin, and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Since the last Report, he has written and published the following: "On the Estimation of Phosphoric Acid as Magnesian Pyrophosphate" (Proceedings of American Academy, vol. XV. p. 53; presented Oct. 8, 1879; reprinted in "American Chemical Journal," vol. I. p. 391); "A New Form of Absorption Apparatus, for Use in Estimating Ammonia" (Id. vol. I. p. 450, February, 1880); also "A Tubulated Crucible for Use in Estimating Volatile Products of Ignition" (Id. vol. II. p. 247, October, 1880; copied into "Chemical News," vol. XLII. p. 326). CLASS SUBSCRIPTION FUND.

THE amount pledged to this fund at the date of the last Report was $4,725, being seven subscriptions of $250 each, four of $200 each, two of $150 each, one of $125, fifteen of $100 each, and five of $50 each: since then, no new subscriptions have been made. Of the above subscriptions, of which the ninth instalment was due this year, five have been paid in full. There are three on which nothing has been paid, and one which lapsed, by the death of the subscriber, after two instalments were paid; there are twelve the instalments on which are paid up to date; and the others are delinquent in various degrees. Next year the last instalment is due, and I hope the delinquents will pay in full. The following account is for the last three years:—

A. L. Lincoln, jun., Secretary, in account with Class of 1872.

REPORTS OF MEETINGS.

SEVENTH MEETING, June 24, 1878.

HELD at Hollis 19, at half-past twelve P.M., Hubbard in the chair. The Secretary's Third (printed) Report was presented and accepted. Resolutions¹ were passed upon the death of George H. Tower and William Evarts, and sketches of their lives were read. A circular of the Class Secretaries, in regard to the observance of Commencement Day, was then brought up for discussion; and, after some debate, it was voted, "That the matter of the entertainment at Commencement be left to the discretion of the Secretary, but that its character be not essentially changed; that the Class do hereby express its sympathy with the recommendations in the circular issued by the Secretaries on Commencement Day, 1878." The meeting then adjourned.

EIGHTH MEETING, June 25, 1879.

HELD at Hollis 19, at a quarter before one P.M., F. R. Hall in the chair. The Secretary's report for the previous year was read and accepted. The Class then passed a vote of thanks to the Secretary for his management of the interests of the Class financially and otherwise, and the meeting adjourned.

NINTH MEETING, June 30, 1880.

HELD at Thayer 47, at half-past twelve P.M., Arthur Lord in the chair. The Secretary's report for the previous year was read and accepted. Action was then taken on the death of Barnes. A sketch of his life, taken from the Class Book, was read, and a letter from Fessenden as to his last sickness, and his life since graduation. Resolutions were then passed. The letter to the Secretary, from Col. Theodore Lyman, on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Alumni, with reference to Commencement Day, was then taken up. The Secretary stated what action he had taken, which was approved by the Class; and it was voted to leave the Commencement entertainment to the discretion of the Secretary. The meeting then adjourned.
